Bluebird Executive Director and Interim CEO Aidan Bishop said,"I am delighted to welcomeCédric Simonetto the Board of Directors. Following the resignation of Colin Patterson as Director in February 2025, the Board has been actively seeking a replacement with mining and geological expertise.

The appointment ofCédric should not be seen by shareholders that the Company is presently contemplating a shift in geographical focus but rather as a necessary step to ensure that adequate technical mining expertise was represented on the Board and that the size of the Board is in line with the listing rules.

The Company is seeking to recalibrate its strategy considering further delays in South Korea which include determining the right composition of the team for the future. I look forward to providing further updates in due course."
