CHAIRMAN'S LETTER

30 August 2017

Fellow shareholders,

Non-Renounceable Entitlement Offer

I am pleased to present the opportunity to reinvest in your Company through a non-renounceable Entitlement Offer of 1 New Share for every 8 Ordinary Shares held, priced at $0.35 cents per share.

Your Directors have launched the offer for two reasons:

a) to increase the funds currently available for launch related activities to promote sales of the first manufacturing run of the 'Spacetalk' children's 3G GPS smartwatch/phones, which the Company has developed for sale with its AllMyTribe family locator, child safety app and server platform;

b) to provide shareholders with the opportunity to reinvest, on attractive terms, as the Company commences commercialisation of a product which has been our principal research and development focus and which has the potential to transform MGM Wireless' revenue and business base.

The full details, including associated risks of this Offer, are set out in this booklet, which I encourage you to read carefully. Before I address the key details of this Offer I would like to summarise the merits of the Company's strategy and position that are relevant to this Offer.

About the Spacetalk children's 3G smartwatch phone and AllMyTribe platform

The Spacetalk children's 3G smartwatch/phone is the culmination of over 2 years' effort by MGM Wireless to develop a suitable hardware device for our AllMyTribe child safety, family welfare/IoT platform. Our research showed that AllMyTribe has world class capabilities as a platform for secure, safe connection of family members, with features including location intelligence, safe-zone management and other safety and family lifestyle benefits.

The Spacetalk watch has been co-developed and extensively field tested in Australian conditions by MGM Wireless to produce a high quality, fashionable and robust smartwatch designed specifically for the needs and aspirations of children and parents. We are immensely proud of the final product. The watch's performance, the response of retailers and the results of our market analysis and financial modelling have presented a compelling case for proceeding with the first batch of manufacturing and product launch.

Our analysis indicates that even marginal penetration of the market of 2.1 million plus primary school aged children[1] can deliver revenue that is comparable to that generated from the Company's existing school messaging and software business.

It is intended that the proceeds of this raising be used to increase the funds currently available for launch related activities.

The Company has sufficient working capital to meet the costs of the initial manufacturing run and therefore proceeds of this raising will not be required for this purpose.

Furthermore, in the build-up up to the upcoming peak Christmas and back to school retail sales periods, the Company believes it Is highly prudent that the launch promotional expenditure be increased now to maximise sales opportunities during this period. The Company intends to sell through leading consumer electronics, toy, school supply and other bricks and mortar retailers and through its own website.

[1] Australian Bureau of Statistics 2016 – 2.1 million school enrolled children between the ages of 5 and 11

I would like to reinforce that this Offer is being made from a standpoint of financial strength and consistent with MGM Wireless' record of balance sheet prudence. At 30 June 2017 the Company's cash balance was $1.11 million. The Offer will enable resourcing of a larger and more effective launch campaign without recourse to the cash generated from our existing business, which remains solid and performing in line with guidance provided to the ASX.

Details of the Entitlement Offer

The Offer comprises a pro rata non-renounceable Entitlement Offer of approximately 1,086,430 New Shares at an issue price of $0.35 (35 cents) each on the basis of 1 New Share for every 8 Ordinary Shares held to raise approximately $380,250 (before issue costs). The Offer is partially (32.2%) underwritten on the terms described in section 4.5.

The $0.35 Offer Price represents a 15.1% discount to TERP[2] based on the closing price of MGM Wireless shares on 28 August 2017 (the last day that MGM Wireless shares traded on the ASX before the Offer was announced) and a 20.4% discount to the 30 day volume weighted average price (VWAP) of MGM Wireless shares on 29 August 2017, being $0.4401 (based on the 30 trading days leading up 29 August 2017).

The Entitlement Offer is non-renounceable and therefore your Entitlements will not be tradeable on ASX or otherwise transferable. Please note there is no top-up or shortfall facility.

The Entitlement Offer closes at 5.00pm (Australian Central Standard Time) on 20 September 2017

In particular, you should read and consider section 3 which commences on page 12 and summarises some of the key risks. If you do not wish to take up any of your Entitlement, you do not need to take any action.

On behalf of the board of MGM Wireless, I invite you to consider this investment opportunity carefully. Your Board believes that the Spacetalk smartwatch/phone and AllMyTribe hold great potential for MGM Wireless shareholders. This potential is yet to be tested and the watch, like all new products, carries risks until its technical and commercial performance are established.

As this booklet documents, I have made a strong personal commitment to this venture, having committed to partially underwriting the Offer. This is an exciting milestone in the Company's development. 1. INVESTMENT OVERVIEW AND KEY TERMS OF THE ENTITLEMENT OFFER

1.1 Investment Overview

This offer has been made to provide MGM Wireless Shareholders with an investment opportunity as the Company prepares to build a new business stream outside its established school software and messaging market through the manufacture and commercialisation of children's smartwatch phones as a distribution point for its AllMyTribe platform within the emerging wearables/Internet of Things (IoT)/family connections market.

MGM Wireless has built an established, cash-generating business by successfully developing, commercialising and marketing products that exploit emerging trends in mobile communications technology and societal use.

In 2003 the Company anticipated the proliferation and utility of smartphone technology and invented the first SMS-based student attendance management system messageyou.

Through ongoing research and development, product commercialisation and market development, MGM Wireless has established a position as Australia's leading provider of mobile messaging based attendance management and communication and engagement solutions with 1,061 contracted schools at 30 June 2017.

The introduction of new and innovative products that utilise the increasing sophistication of mobile technology has been a key feature of this development, with the Company's product suite expanding from SMS messaging to include student attendance management, roll-marking, multi-channel school communications, child safety and school news apps.

The Company has built a sound business around its school software and messaging capability which has annual sales revenue of approximately $2.5 million, has zero debt and has generated a positive cash flow from operating activities for 5 successive years.

In 2015 the Company identified that the capabilities of its child safety products had relevance outside the school community, within the broader family connections market and, most significantly, were applicable to the emerging wearables and IoT technology. MGM Wireless released the AllMyTribe platform and app in 2016 and in 2017 successfully completed field trials of the purpose built children's 'Spacetalk' smartwatch it has co-developed and for which it holds exclusive Australian rights.

The smartwatch, which has been developed after consultation with leading bricks and mortar retailers, is believed to be the world's first children's 3G smartwatch phone and will operate through MGM Wireless' AllMyTribe family locator and child safety platform and app. By connecting to the app, children and carers will have access to engaging smartwatch features plus the Company's world leading family locator and child safety technology. These features include:

- 2 way, 3G voice calls and SMS messaging, with capability for parents to restrict access to approved 'safe' contacts;
- parent/carer step counter activity monitoring;
- GPS and Wifi location tracking and history; and
- safe zone setup capability; i.e. capability to advise carers when their child arrives or leaves a designated safe location.

MGM Wireless has conducted market analysis directly and in consultation with retailers for the purpose of critically assessing the prospects of the Spacetalk smartwatch in the Australian market. A detailed marketing plan has been prepared with industry experts using a broad range of bricks and mortar and online retailers. A detailed business and cost model has been prepared.

The foregoing analysis has confirmed there is a realistic and attractive market opportunity for the Spacetalk watch and that shareholder benefits from successful commercialisation merit proceeding to retail launch.

Business modelling conducted by MGM Wireless indicates that based on anticipated pricing, marginal penetration of the Australian population of children aged 4 to 11 years old (estimated to be in excess of 2.1 million persons), could yield a revenue stream from Spacetalk/AllMyTribe comparable to that currently generated from the Company's schools business, and generate economic margin.

The pathway to commercialisation requires the manufacture of retail stock in the first instance, which is also a prerequisite for the negotiation of distribution agreements with retailers. Manufacturing of the watch is intended in September with a view to the placement of stock for sale in retail establishments prior to the peak summer sales season for children's products. The Company will also sell the watch on-line through its own website.

MGM Wireless has a strong cash position of $1.11 million as at 30 June, a level that is expected to be maintained in the current period. Through this Entitlement Offer, MGM Wireless intends to fund a larger and more comprehensive launch campaign of the Spacetalk watch without recourse to the cash balance generated by its existing business.

The Entitlement Offer has been initiated, and structured, to provide timely access to capital for the impending product launch process.

Notwithstanding the thoroughness of the product testing, market consultation and analysis and business planning conducted to date, the manufacture, commercialisation and sale of the Spacetalk watch carries risks that typically attend new products and technology and this Offer carries market risks. These are summarised in Section 3 which investors are encouraged to consider carefully.

1.2 The Offer

The Company is making a pro rata non-renounceable Entitlement Offer of approximately 1,086,430 New Shares to Eligible Shareholders at an issue price of $0.35 (35 cents) per New Share on the basis of 1 New Share for every 8 Ordinary Shares held at the Record Date.

Where the determination of the right to any Eligible Shareholder results in a fraction of a New Share, such a fraction will be rounded up to the nearest whole New Share.

The Company is seeking to raise up to $380,250 (before issue costs). Based on current information and budgets, the Company intends to apply the money raised from the Offer under this Offer Booklet as outlined in the following table.

Use of proceeds	Underwritten amount	Full subscription
Costs related to the Entitlement Offer	$43,937	$43,937

Use of proceeds	Underwritten amount	Full subscription
Launch and ongoing marketing, advertising and public relations activities to promote sales of the first manufacturing run of the 'Spacetalk' children's 3G GPS smartwatch/phones, in preparation for the build-up to the upcoming peak Christmas and back to school retail sales periods.	$78,563	$336,313
Total	$122,500	$380,250

The above table is a statement of current intentions as at the date of this Offer Booklet. As with any budget, intervening events and new circumstances have the potential to affect the manner in which the proceeds are ultimately applied. The Directors reserve the right to alter the way proceeds are applied on that basis.

3. SUMMARY OF RISKS

As with all investments, investors should be aware that the market price of shares may fall as well as rise. The potential returns of the Company will be exposed to risks specific to the Company and to general investment risks. While it is impossible to identify all risks, the attention of investors is drawn to the following particular risks:

3.1 Key Risks

Reliability and Performance

There is an inherent risk with any new product category that development and commercialisation will not progress as planned. Although the Spacetalk smartwatch phone and AllMyTribe App/Server platform have been field tested by the Company, it is not possible to test for all possible scenarios and as such, there remains a possibility that defects are not discovered until after the smartwatch phone has been launched. Further, if there are defects, the Company may not be able to rectify them on a timely basis or at all. Any defects could have an adverse impact on the Company's revenue and in addition, the Company may suffer reputational damage.

As a worst case scenario, there could be an unexpected or not anticipated catastrophic product failure.

The Company may not be able to resolve product failure issues in a timely manner.

Manufacturing Delays

A delay in manufacturing could lead to the products failing to be delivered in time for the Christmas and back to school trading period.

Demand Outstrips Supply

There is a risk that the Company cannot meet consumer demand for this new technology. Should the Company be unable to secure additional supply/manufacture of watches to meet sales demand this may result in a loss of faith by retail partners and customers.

Skills and Resources Gaps

New company processes are being developed for the management of this new line of business, but high sales demand would create additional pressure and could result in a failure to execute Company processes in a timely manner.

The Company could have technical, management or other skills gaps that could prevent the successful operation of the business.

The Company could be under resourced to execute a sufficiently large marketing and awareness program to generate sufficient consumer demand.

Negotiation of Distribution Contracts with Retailers

Although the response shown from retailers has provided strong encouragement, as yet the Company does not have contracts in place with bricks and mortar retailers. While the Company is confident that the Spacetalk smartwatch phone is an attractive product capable of being sold by consumer electronics, toy, school supply and many other retailers, there can be no guarantee that the Company will be successful in securing contracts with bricks and mortar retailers. Although the watch will be sold through the Company's on-line store, failure to secure contracts with bricks and mortar retailers will have an adverse impact on the potential revenue opportunities for the smartwatch phone.

Manufacturing

Manufacturing of the first production run of Spacetalk smartwatch phones will be undertaken in China. The Company is solely reliant on production from its Chinese manufacturer. Manufacturing difficulties including errors in complying with product specifications, insufficient quality control or failure to meet production deadlines could have a material adverse effect on the Company's ability to generate revenue while the production difficulties or delays continue. If the manufacturing difficulties were prolonged and another third party manufacturer could not be sourced, this could have a material adverse effect on the Company's intended retail launch in the December quarter of 2017.

3.2 Risks Specific to the Company

Future Capital Requirements

Should stronger than expected demand for Spacetalk be experienced, the Company may require additional capital to fund further and larger production runs. In particular, should initial production quantities sell faster than expected, under normal supply agreements with retailers, the Company will be required to re-supply retailers within specified timeframes. The Company's ability to raise sufficient further capital within an acceptable time frame and on terms acceptable to it will vary according to a number of factors including (without limitation) the prospects of a new competitor, stock market and industry conditions.

Competition

The Company operates in a competitive and emerging wearables device market which is subject to constantly shifting consumer preferences. There is a risk that new entrants to the market may develop superior or more cost-effective wearable devices which could have an adverse effect on the Company's ability to continue development and commercialisation of its Spacetalk smartwatch phone and therefore the Company's business and financial position.

Market Risks

There cannot be any assurance that the Spacetalk smartwatch phone will generate interest in the children's wearable device market. Success of the device will depend on many factors including securing and growing retail distribution, price competitiveness and ongoing technology innovation.

3.3 Risks Specific to the Offer

Dilution Risk

If you decide to take up only part of your Entitlement or not to accept any of your Entitlement, your Entitlement will lapse and your ownership of the Company will be diluted to that extent.

3.4 General Risks

General Market Conditions

The price of the Shares on ASX may rise or fall due to numerous factors including:

- general economic conditions, including inflation rates and interest rates;
- variations in the local and global markets for listed shares in general, or for technology stocks in particular;
- changes to government policy, legislation or regulation;

- competition in the industry in which the Company operates; and
- general operational and business risks.

In particular, the share prices of many companies have in recent times been subject to wide fluctuations, which in many circumstances arise by reason of matters outside the control of the Company, including global hostilities and tensions and the general state of the economy. Such market fluctuations may materially adversely affect the market price of the New Shares.

There can also be no guarantee that an active market in the Shares will develop or that the price of the Shares will increase. There may be relatively few or many potential buyers or sellers of the New Shares on the ASX at any given time. This may increase the volatility of the market price of the New Shares, and the prevailing market price at which shareholders are able to sell their New Shares.

The matters set out above may result in Shareholders receiving a price for their New Shares that is more or less than the Offer price.

4. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

4.1 Reliance on Offer Booklet

This Offer Booklet has been prepared pursuant to section 708AA of the Corporations Act for the offer of New Shares without disclosure to investors under Part 6D.2 of the Corporations Act. This Offer Booklet was lodged with the ASX on 30 August 2017.

Section 708AA of the Corporations Act requires companies to lodge with the ASX a Cleansing Notice. The Company lodged a Cleansing Notice with the ASX on 30 August 2017.

In deciding whether or not to accept the Offer, you should rely on your own knowledge of the Company, refer to the documents lodged and the disclosures made by the Company on the ASX (which are available for inspection on the ASX website at www.asx.com.au) and seek advice from your financial or professional advisor.

4.2 Control implications of the Entitlement Offer

The potential effect the Entitlement Offer will have on the control of the Company, and the consequences of that effect, will depend on a number of factors, including the demand from existing Shareholders. The primary consequences are that:

- if all Eligible Shareholders take up their entitlement to New Shares, the Entitlement Offer would have no effect on the control of the Company because the Eligible Shareholders would continue to hold the same percentage interest in the Company;
- if some Eligible Shareholders do not take up their full entitlement, such Shareholders' voting power would be diluted relative to those who did take up their full Entitlement.

As set out in section 4.5, the Company and I-Holdings Pty Ltd as trustee for the Fortunatow Family Super Fund (an entity associated with Executive Chairman Mr Fortunatow) have entered into an underwriting agreement under which the Underwriter has agreed to partially underwrite the Offer. The potential effect that the issue of New Shares to the Underwriter, Mr Fortunatow or his associates under the Offer will have on the control of the Company is set out in this section.

Table 1 illustrates the potential effect of the Offer on the voting power of Mr Fortunatow and his associated entities in scenarios where the Offer is 50%, 75% and fully subscribed and in the unlikely event that no other Shareholders take up their Entitlement under the Offer. With the exception of the offer being fully subscribed scenario and Offer 75% subscribed scenario, these scenarios are based on the assumption that Mr Fortunatow and his associated entities take up their full Entitlement and the Underwriter is required to subscribe for the maximum number of underwritten Shares under the Offer. For example, the reference to the Offer being 50% subscribed refers to 50% of the rights being subscribed inclusive of Mr Fortunatow or his associated entities taking up their rights in full. The actual effect of the Offer on the voting power in the Company of Mr Fortunatow and his associated entities will depend on the level of subscription by Eligible Shareholders to the Offer.

Event	Shares held by Mr Fortunatow and his associates at completion of the Offer	Total shares on issue at completion of the Offer	Number of Shortfall Shares to be taken up by the Underwriter	Voting power of Mr Fortunatow and his associates at completion of the Offer

Offer 75% subscribed	1,759,404	9,777,868	271,607	17.99%
Offer 50% subscribed	1,837,796	9,584,653	350,000	19.17%
No other Shareholders take up their Entitlement	1,837,796	9,206,749	350,000	19.96%

Date, would give rise to an additional Entitlement. Option exercise is highly unlikely as the exercise price of the options is significantly out of the money as at the date of this Offer Booklet.

Mr Hurd holds options which, if exercised before the Record Date, would give rise to an additional Entitlement. Option exercise is highly unlikely as the exercise price of the options is significantly out of the money as at the date of this Offer Booklet.

Under the terms of the underwriting agreement:

- the Underwriter's obligations only become binding if there is a shortfall in the subscription for New Shares under the Rights Issue. If there is a shortfall, the Underwriter must apply for the number of shares specified above;
- the Underwriter must apply for and pay for the New Shares, and the Company must allot and issue the New Shares, on a date to be agreed that is within 15 business days after the Closing Date;
- the issue price for the New Shares will be $0.35 each, and the New Shares will otherwise be issued pursuant to this Offer Booklet;
- no fees, commissions or other financial benefits are payable to the Underwriter for partially underwriting the Offer;
- there are no termination rights.

The Underwriter has notified the Company of its present intention not to acquire Shares prior to the Record Date. No assurance can be given that the Underwriters' intentions will not change.

The relevant interest of the Underwriter pre-Offer is disclosed in section 4.3. Upon completion of the Offer, irrespective of the extent to which it is taken up by Eligible Shareholders, the underwriting arrangement will not have any effect on control of the Company other than as set out in section 4.2.
