Elders Market Update

Elders (ASX: ELD) notes the article appearing in Street Talk in this morning's Australian Financial Review.

Elders advises that there are no live equity proposals from Pacific Equity Partners, or any other party, being considered by Elders.

Elders has recently received a number of informal, incomplete and confidential approaches from several parties, proposing participation by those parties in the affairs of the company. None of those approaches is definite and in a form capable of consideration by the Elders Board and accordingly they are not being considered by the Elders Board.
