TITOMIC SECURES MULTI-YEAR SUBCONTRACT OF UP TO USD 250 MILLION SUPPORTING U.S. SPACE AND DEFENSE PROGRAMS

HUNTSVILLE, AL. – Titomic Limited (ASX: TTT), is pleased to announce that its wholly owned subsidiary, Titomic USA, Inc., has been awarded an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) subcontract by a major US aerospace and defense prime.

The sole-source agreement establishes a contracting framework with a ceiling value of USD 250 million (AUD 375 million) through December 31, 2031. It enables the prime to issue funded task orders without negotiating a new overarching subcontract, reducing the time between program award and execution, and gives Titomic a multi-year framework for planning production capacity at its Huntsville, Alabama headquarters.

The award facilitates Titomic's participation in expanding hypersonics programs, while creating additional opportunities across missile, aerospace and defense programs.

The award also confirms the Department of War's drive to promote additive manufacturing methods to achieve production at speed.

Jim Simpson, Managing Director & CEO of Titomic Limited, commented:

"This agreement positions Titomic to support critical U.S. defense production programs and affirms the strategic pivot we are executing: building a U.S.-based defense manufacturing and sustainment business anchored by programs with Tier-1 primes. Our ability to rapidly and efficiently manufacture and repair mission-critical components without compromising quality directly addresses the military's need for speed, readiness and supply chain resilience."

Bell Potter Securities will host CEO Jim Simpson for an investor webinar on Thursday 26 November at 11:00am AEDT (dial in details below):
