MTI Wireless Edge Ltd ("MTI" or the "Group")

Contracts Win

MTI Wireless Edge Ltd (AIM: MWE), the technology group focused on comprehensive communication and radio frequency solutions across multiple sectors, is pleased to announce that its antenna division has secured several orders, which in total are valued at just over US$1 million, for the supply of military antennas to an existing Israeli customer. The majority of these orders will be supplied over the next 12 months.

MTI's antenna division General Manager, Dov Feiner, commented: "We are delighted to have secured these orders, which come from an existing customer and are for several naval projects. We have been waiting for these orders to mature for some time and, together with the order announced on 23 September 2019, we have increased our order book and continue to see interesting opportunities in the military antenna segment. We also continue to invest in the commercialization of 5G backhaul solutions which we expect will drive sales growth as mobile phone operators roll out their 5G networks globally."
