Commercial Progress & Strategic Pipeline

Following the highly successful global reveal and public exhibition of the T-rex leather handbag in Amsterdam, the Company has experienced a significant increase in inbound commercial interest. LGL is currently in preliminary discussions with several global Tier-1 brands across luxury, sportswear and automotive sectors.

To preserve the extreme exclusivity and value of the Company's initial bio-material yields, these conversations are strictly focused on highly limited, bespoke collaborations and long-term future material development, rather than mass-market commercialisation.
